

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1873.

The trial of Frank Walworth was concluded yesterday, with a verdict of murder in the second degree. The jury took the view that the accused did not have a deliberate intention of killing his father, but that he fired the shot under the influence of passion. Judge Davis, in delivering his charge to the jury, said that if the jury were satisfied from the evidence that young Walworth came to New York with intent to murder his father, then the crime was murder in the first degree; but if the crime was committed in a sudden manner, in an instant, then it would be murder in the second degree. He also charged that the jury should not regard the fears which the prisoner entertained for the life of his mother, as they could not be regarded as any justification of his crime; that they should only regard those fears which were personal. The law did not make it justification when the killing was done through fear that the life of another was in danger. They could, however, consider whether the fear that his mother's life was in danger did not give point to the fear which he entertained for his own life on the morning of the 3d of June.

The House and Senate of the Connecticut Legislature are at a dead-lock. The Democrats have a majority in the former and the Republicans in the latter. There are three Judges of the Superior Court of the State to be elected, and one of the Supreme Court. Candidates of the parties agreed that the Republicans should have the Supreme Court Judge and one of the others, and that the Democrats should take the two remaining on the bench of the Superior Court. The men were named, and everything was going along swimmingly until some of the Senators took it into their heads to bolt the caucus nominees. The Democrats in the House are sticking by the nominees. The Senate is equally obstinate.

The dispatch from London that the Berlin Government had bought from the Syndicate having in charge the negotiation of the new United States 5's $10,000,000 United States bonds, is confirmed by members of the Syndicate in New York. The Baltimore Sun says: "This operation, it is believed, will have an important bearing, not only on the future price of American securities in London, but on the course of that money market, as the transfer of the money necessary to pay for these bonds from the account of the Berlin government at the London Joint Stock Bank to the Syndicate bankers in London will, it is thought, prevent, for the present, at least, any further shipments of gold from London to Germany."

A letter in the Lynchburg Virginian speaking of the recent exercises at the Episcopal Theological Seminary, near this place says:—"The attendance from a distance upon the commencement exercises of the Seminary was this year smaller than usual. This is believed to be due to the approval of the semi-Centennial Jubilee, to be held the last week in September next. Many who could not come to both the same year are supposed to have postponed their visit until the later and more interesting occasion."

The United States has filed a bill in chancery in the United States Circuit Court for West Virginia, to enforce the vendors lien on the Harper's Ferry property sold in 1869. As soon as this case is decided the United States will bring an ejectment suit against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, which corporation has been running its trains over Government property, it is alleged, without authority. When the two suits shall be determined, the property and franchises will again be put up at public auction.

The Washington Chronicle says: "It is stated at the War Department that the session of the commission appointed to try the Modoc Indians will commence shortly after 4th of July. It is also said that the indications are that pressure is to be made upon the President for the purpose of interceding in behalf of these Modoc Indians, and that influence to that end has already been sought."

Mr. Vasant has been nominated by the Democrats of Baltimore for re-election for Mayor. The convention was a very harmonious one, and Mr. Latrobe, after a strenuous contest, and, in the presence of the convention, voluntarily came forward and frankly pledged himself to support the nominee, and to use all his influence to promote his election.

Yesterday afternoon a conference was held between Governor Davis, of Texas, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs with reference to the disposition of Santa and Big Tree, and, it is said, it was practically concluded that these Indians shall not be released, but shall be punished as originally intended.

The Receiver of the Ocean National Bank of New York, by direction of the Comptroller of the Currency, will soon receive proposals for the sale of a tract of 1,120 acres of coal and iron land in Preston county, West Virginia, on which is a blast furnace in full operation.

The fatal duel near New Orleans between Col. Rhett and Judge Cooley, in which the latter was killed at the second fire, creates much feeling in that city. It will probably have the effect, in some degree, of repressing the practice of duelling.

R. W. Taylor, the First Comptroller of the Treasury has addressed a letter to an Eastern Senator, saying that the back pay will be at the disposal of Senators and Representatives for two years from date.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The London Mirror says:—"Among the list of distinctions and graduates at Randolph Macon College we notice in the Introductory Class of English the name of J. B. McCabe; in the Intermediate School of Mathematics and Applied Mathematics, J. B. McCabe and Wm. Ching; in the Junior Class of Latin, Wm. Ching; in the Junior Class of Natural Philosophy, J. B. McCabe. Among the graduates in the School of Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics, William Fulton, all of this country."

The Lynchburg News says:—"Some of the engineers on the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio railroad have been notified by one of Gen. Mahone's officials that they would be required to surrender their positions as employees of the road unless they withdrew from an organization known as the 'Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.' They have been discharged since the notice."

The debater's medal on the part of the Washington Society, of Washington and Lee University, was awarded to Mr. Lawrence Rust, son of Col. A. T. M. Rust, of Loudoun county. Mr. Rust's name also appears as a distinguished proficient in the schools of Moral Philosophy, Mathematics and Geology and Mineralogy.

There is no telling the amount of material prosperity good schools bring to a city. In the last three weeks three gentlemen of the country have bought residences in Staunton with a view of being nearer to the schools for the education of their children. One paid $22,500, another $7,000, and another $10,000.

The State authorities have received from the War Department at Washington 100 stand of new breech-loading Springfield rifles and four three-inch rifle guns for the Howitzers, and a like number for the Norfolk Blues.

STORMS.

PARSONS, July 2.—The Parsons Sun extra contains the following particulars of another tornado in Neosho county. It struck Galesburg, a station on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, eleven miles from here, about 9:30 p. m. yesterday. The storm was a fearful one. The rainstorm was one sheet of flame, accompanied by a terrible burst of wind and rain. The tornado came from the southwest, and first struck the stone house of Mr. Giddings, half a mile south of Galesburg, blowing it down, and burying Mrs. Giddings and three children in the ruins. The children were instantly killed. Mrs. Giddings was seriously injured. The gale next struck Mr. Rodger's house, which was blown down. He was seriously and his wife fatally injured. Two other houses were blown from their foundations. The tornado moved in a narrow belt, and swept everything in its track, houses, fences and crops clean as a mower's scythe.

At Parsons three houses were struck by lightning, but no serious damage was done. The rain came down all night in torrents, and much damage was done to the wheat and corn crops. INDIANAPOLIS, July 2.—There was a severe rainstorm with thunder and lightning last night, causing considerable damage. The residence of George W. McLean was struck by lightning and badly damaged. A daughter of Mr. McLean and another young lady sleeping together, were seriously injured by lightning, the latter it is feared fatally.

The wheat and corn were considerably damaged.

CINCINNATI, July 2.—A very heavy storm passed over parts of Preble county, Ohio, this a. m., greatly damaging the wheat crop. At Camden, in that county, it assumed the proportions of a tornado, and houses, stables, trees, &c., were demolished. The Methodist parsonage is a total wreck. Other buildings were unroofed and sustained other injuries. No one was seriously hurt.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.—The Territorial Enterprise has the following: A horrible accident occurred yesterday afternoon, at 2:45 o'clock, at Steamboat Springs, Washoe county. Mr. Cullen, proprietor of the hotel and Springs. Mr. Cullen was engaged in erecting a new bath-house over a large pool of boiling water, for use in giving steam baths. Timbers for the foundation of the structure had been laid across the boiling pool, which is four or five feet in depth, and Mr. Cullen had walked out on one of these for the purpose of arranging a cross timber, when he slipped and fell into the scalding water. The water was so deep that it reached nearly to his breast-bone, and so hot that an egg is cooked in it in two minutes. When he fell he was either so much frightened or felt such pain that for a time he seemed in a manner paralyzed, and did hardly anything toward getting out. It is said that he was in the spring fully half a minute before he got out, when he at last did through his own exertions and the help of a man who came to his assistance. He was taken to the hotel and stripped, when the greater part of the skin slipped off his body from near the breast bone downward. Gentlemen who happened to be visiting at the Springs, did all that could be done for the suffering man pending the arrival of a physician. They got a large quantity of flour and packed him in it, and kept him in this condition till the doctor arrived. Dr. Green says the man may be said to be literally cooked alive. As to whether he will live or not he cannot say, but appears to think his recovery would be little short of a miracle. Cullen was in such agony that the doctor was obliged to give him very heavy doses of opium to keep him at all quiet.—St. Louis Globe.

LOUISIANA SUGAR CROP.—The crop of sugar in Louisiana for the past season was 108,520 bbls. This is a decrease of 19,941 bbls. on the yield of last year, and 36,361 less than the year preceding; while compared with the large crop of 1861-2—the last raised with slave labor—it shows a falling off amounting to 350,890 hogheads.—The product of molasses also shows a decrease of over ten per cent. compared with last year.—Baltimore American.

There were ten deaths from cholera in Cincinnati yesterday, six in Nashville, four in Cairo, and one in Little Rock. In St. Louis, none.

University of Virginia.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, July 2.—At the University of Virginia this morning an address was delivered before the Alumni of the University by Rev. Dr. Broadus of South Carolina. The annual address before the literary societies was delivered by Senator Thomas Bayard, of Delaware. He gave the students some excellent advice, and affirmed that the character and standing of the Government of the nation depended upon the exercise of the public virtues by citizens. He contrasted the purity of the Government established by the fathers of the Republic with the present, and deprecated the land-grabbing proclivities which it fostered and encouraged. He admonished the young men against the growing prevalence of vice and the gross materialistic idea abroad in the mind that spotless character was nothing and money everything. His address was applauded to the echo, and his eloquent allusion to General R. E. Lee brought down the house in a storm of applause.

The University has received since the war over $200,000 from private benefactors of learning. New buildings were added, costing $30,000, additions to library apparatus, water works, and other improvements, $45,000.

Governor Walker arrived this evening.

A SELF-ACTING SEWING MACHINE.—A Mr. Peck had long entertained the idea that he could invent a self-acting sewing machine, and he did. He procured a steel ribbon spring about twenty feet long, and of sufficient power to run a horse car. This he rigged on his wife's sewing machine with a lot of clock-work, and it appeared to him when he had finished the job that evening, that he had realized his hopes. If any sewing machine ever would go, that would, so he wound it up ready for use in the morning and went to bed. At four o'clock Mrs. Peck awoke him, and told him to listen to the burglars in the house. He listened, and heard a most terrific racket in the sitting-room. It appeared to him that there must be a million burglars refreshing themselves with a prize fight. So he loaded his gun, crept softly over, and peeped through a crack in the door. It was not burglars it was Mrs. Peck's sewing machine. The peg had slipped and that spring was having full play. It would rear the machine up on one end and charge it three or four times like a battering ram against the glass front of the book case; then it would wheel around and suddenly tear across the room and butt up against the mantle-piece, and it would lie down and roll over the floor, and hammer the sofa, tear up the carpet and boost the center table, and try to ram a hole through the wall, and then endeavor to leap up on the chandelier. Then as Peck entered the room, it flew at him and tore in and out between all the legs, the wheel revolving like lightning all the time, and the spring gradually unwinding. And then Peck retreated, and the family all got up and took a justress off the bed with which they covered the machine, and sat on it for a while, but finally pushed it out of the window into the yard, where Peck piled boxes and ash-barrels, and sloop-buckets, and fence-palings and wagon wheels on it to keep it still. But all night under the heap it kept up a continual buzz and snort and hum, so that one of Mr. Birdsl's boarders fired at it sixteen times, with the impression that it was cats. Peck has presented his better half with a new sewing machine, and he is satisfied for her to run it with her feet. He is taking a short vacation in the studying of mechanics at present.—Beverly Standard.

THE FISHERIES.—The President has issued his proclamation announcing that the fishing provisions of the Treaty of Washington, Articles XVII. to XXI., have gone into operation, and under them American fishermen will be unmolested in pursuing their calling in British waters. The treaty provisions allow the fishermen of either country to take fish of every kind except shell fish on the sea-coasts and shores and in the bays, harbors and creeks of the other, without being restricted to any distance from the shore, and to land upon the coasts and islands for the purpose of drying their nets and cutting their fish, provided that in so doing they do not interfere with the rights of private property or with the fishermen of the respective countries in the peaceable use of said coasts for the same purpose. This liberty applies solely to the sea-fishery; and the salmon and shad fisheries, and all other fisheries in rivers and the mouths of rivers, are reserved by the respective countries for the sole use and benefit of their own fishermen. Fish oil and sea fish are to be admitted from one country into the other free of duty, and three Commissioners are to be appointed, one by the President of the United States, one by Her Britannic Majesty and the other by the two Powers conjointly, to determine the amount if any, to be paid by the Government of the U. S. to the Government of Great Britain for the excess of benefit resulting to the citizens of the United States over the resulting to British subjects under these provisions of the treaty. The Commission is to sit at Halifax as soon as convenient, and to close their labors within six months after their organization.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—A colored man named Fortune assaulted a white man named Spotswood in South Washington Wednesday night. Spotswood, in defence, shot him in the side. Fortune turned and threw a stone back and struck a small child, seriously injuring it. It is expected that Fortune will be arrested. He is supposed to be a relative of the celebrated horse thief recently captured in Baltimore and sent to the Richmond penitentiary. The contract for supplying the Post-office Department with wood and coal during the coming winter was yesterday awarded to T. E. Clarke & Co., at anthracite coal $7 15, oak wood $13, and pine wood $5 18. Vincent A. Hubbard, aged 17 years, and late a Senate page and clerk to Senator Casserly, is missing. He went to the bank with $73 for Mrs. Casserly yesterday at noon, and has not since been heard of. During the past week there was inspected in this city 7,300 bunches of fish, 16,000 crabs, 33,000 clams and 122 bushels of oysters. Dr. Bliss has handed in to the board of health his resignation as health officer.

THE LATE MR. D. D. ADDISON.—We regret to announce the death of Mr. D. D. Addison, in the 63d year of his age, a highly respectable and prominent citizen of our District. Mr. Addison had been complaining for some time, when at the suggestion of his family, he was taken to Coldbrook, the country residence of the late Anthony Addison, where it was presumed a change of air and scenery might recuperate his strength and former health. After lingering for a few days, he departed this life on last Tuesday, a victim of heart disease. In the death of such an estimable and generous citizen the city has sustained a sad loss.

The deceased was the father of the talented rector of Trinity Church, the Rev. Dr. T. G. Addison, as also, we believe, the cousin of Mr. Addison, formerly Mayor of Georgetown.

His death is mourned by many sorrowing friends, who testify of the high order and degree of merit his character and social nature stood in the relation of father and Christian.—Washington Chronicle.

A COMPROMISE VERDICT.—At the last term of Greene Circuit Court there was a hazy jury in a case of some magnitude. It was rumored that the plaintiff, a lady, and the defendant, a gentleman, had in by-gone days been lovers. After the jury had been kept in for several days without having been able to agree they brought in the following verdict:—"We, the jury, find it impossible to agree, except upon one thing, and they recommended the plaintiff and defendant to ratify and accept the verdict, which is this, that the plaintiff and defendant marry and enjoy the property for life."

life, and at their death to be equally divided between the heirs of each."

His honor, Judge Shackelford, not having practiced in the courts of Capital for a long while, did not know how to enter a judgment on this verdict, and therefore referred to enter it, and discharged the jury.—Charlotteville Jeffersonian.

We would respectfully suggest to our City Council that they make a law against cows being allowed to run at large within the Corporation limits. Ladies who have business out, very often have to walk squares out of the way to avoid the cows which take possession of the sidewalks, and it is almost impossible to keep them out of the beautiful gardens in the city. Last night a gentleman residing on south Pitt street had his gate broken open by a cow, and a lot of valuable corn, which was just about to tassel, destroyed, besides a lot of other vegetables which he had planted. Last Tuesday night a beautiful flower garden was raided on and destroyed by the cows. In nearly every city that has a thousand inhabitants there is a law against cows being allowed to run at large, and it is to be hoped that our city fathers will see fit to protect their tax paying citizens in this respect.

Every day or two there is an account of some stall or money drawer in the new market building being robbed. Is there no way to put a stop to this? Where are the police? This does not sound well and may give the impression that Alexandria has many petty thieves. Let each stall holder subscribe twenty-five or fifty cents a week towards employing one or two watchmen, and then their goods will be safe. W.

REMARKS.—Receipts of Flour have been light, and the market dull all the week; good bakers' Extras are in moderate request, while Family brands are neglected; we have no material change to note in quotations. Wheat opened inactive, and has continued dull with a declining tendency to the close of the week, at which we note prices of 10c since last week's report; all offerings are taken by speculators. Receipts of Corn have been very light, and prices are stiffening; the bulk of the offerings are taken by millers, with a fair enquiry for shipment. Rye and Oats are unchanged. Prime Butter is very scarce and wanted, while common is neglected. Eggs are in limited receipt, with a fair enquiry. Seed Potatoes are in good demand for late planting, but none are to be had. Bacon is firm, with an advancing tendency. Owing to the decline in other markets, Salt is quoted 5c off, though the stock is light. Wool is in light receipt, and prices are unchanged.
